

ester for at least a month yet.

L. P. Larson and wife had quite an exciting time on their trip to Aneta last Sunday. They had reached the Cheyenne river when the horses became unruly, and started off. Mr. Larson was jerked over the dashboard but was compelled to drop the reins after being dragged for a considerable distance. The team headed for Binford. Mr. Larson secured a team from a nearby farmer and continued on their way, none the worse over their experience.