

McHenry was visited by another disastrous fire last Sunday. This time the large livery barn went up in smoke. This is the third large conflagration that town has had within a short time.