

Carl Olson returned Monday from Montana. While there he was employed in a factory and met with the misfortune of losing one of his fingers.