

Albert Rickford returned Saturday from a trip to Canada where, it is reported he took a piece of land. He says one attraction that he noticed was the picnic dinners the numerous packs of wolves were enjoying from the carcasses of dead animals strewn along the road.