

The Times man visited Jessie last Saturday and found everybody wide awake. Calling on Mr. Hougén, we found that he had a hardware store, second to none. His store building is fitted up in fine shape, with a fine line of hardware and furniture. W. J. Carrol, carries a first-class line of Merchandise, and is always glade to see you and make your acquaintance.

Hjort, Thingelstad & Co., are doing business at the old stand, as ever.

Fred Driffenbass is the Jessie landlord. He also has billiard parlor and barber shop in connection.

Edwin Thorn runs a first-class restaurant and pool room.

The State Bank is a fine building, well fitted up inside, and is doing a fine business. It is the pride of Jessie.

Lewis Jacobs, the butcher has a fine meat market and is certainly a credit to the town.

John Erickson, manager of the Gull River Lumber Co's. yard is kept busy figuring bills and delivering building material. John is the right man in the right place.

Jack Resler has an up-to-date general store and is kept busy selling supplies to farmers. Jack is a hustler and can never do things too good to please his customers.
