

Frank Wolfe was down from Tolna yesterday on some business matters. The crops along the road were in fine condition, with the exception of a barley field where the grasshoppers have been at work. The field belongs to Ole Tweed and he lays the grasshopper plague to the fact that the land was not plowed last fall.