

F. D. Cannon went to Wimbledon last Saturday on business with Photographer Goffe. Fred has decided to go into the photograph business, and has fitted up a room at his home for this purpose. To start with he will confine his work strictly to taking of views, and later on when he is better established he will fix up a studio and do all classes of photography. We believe Fred has struck his calling. His natural ability as an artist in drawing and sketching will aid him greatly in his new work. The Times bespeaks for him abundance of success.

Miss Ida Mathilda Arlien, the 19-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Arlien, died at her home Wednesday at 11 o'clock, death being due to tuberculosis. Deceased has been afflicted with the dread disease since Christmas time, but it was not that the end was so near. In fact, she had been up and around the house all day Tuesday, but in the evening complained of not feeling well. However, Wednesday morning she felt some better and was out of bed for a short time. She was born on the home place December 22, 1892. The funeral will be held Friday at 1 o'clock from the Sheyenne church, Rev Overbe of Aneta conducting the services.

The ball game which was scheduled for last Sunday at McHenry, between the Binford and McHenry teams was cancelled on account of cold weather and wet grounds. The locals will go to McHenry today to play the postponed game, and are confident of coming home victorious. This is the first game in which the full Binford team will be represented in the lineup, and an opportunity given to get a line on the new members. In practice they have performed very creditably, both at the bat and in the field. A return game will be played here Sunday. The following Sunday the Pingree team will be here for one game. It is reported they have a strong team so a fast game can be looked for.
