

At the meeting of the township board of Addie, held this week, the board voted to buy a road grader. We understand Tyrol township purchased two of the same kind of machines. The grader is one of the latest types and an excellent piece of machinery for road building. It is constructed so that it elevates the dirt and dumps it in the middle of the road, or it can be dumped into a wagon if desired. The township boards have taken a step in the right direction, and we are pleased to note this progressiveness on their part.
