

Young Walter Arneson came very near meeting with a very serious accident Tuesday, but as it was he was let off with a few minor bruises. He was playing in the street in front of his home when Anton Miller drove along in his buggy, and not noticing the team Walter ran right into them. He was knocked down and the wheels of the buggy just barely missed his head. It was a very narrow escape from probable death. Mr Miller felt very bad over the accident, but he was looking in another direction, and consequently did not see him.
