

action of the town people and the farmers. Good roads are of vital importance to the welfare of the whole country and the Times sincerely hopes that the people in Binford join hands with their rural friends in bringing about this condition.