
Campbell Has Good Show.

Grand Forks Herald: One of the oldest exhibitors at fairs in this state is Donald Campbell of Hannaford, N. D., and he is back to Grand Forks this year for the last time. Mr. Campbell has been breeding Clydesdales and Percherons on his farm for the last twenty years. He will sell off his entire herd this fall and go east to live.

This year he has seven head of Clydesdale at Grand Forks headed by Prince Punctual, international prize winner and state champion for the last four years. All these shown here have been bred and raised on the Hannaford farm and sired by the Prince, who was purchased by Mr. Campbell from Clay brothers in Wisconsin.

Second to him and with a record just as good, is Dazey McKenzie, state champion mare for the past four years. His mate, the same age, has been second to her during that time.
