

there is no place like North Dakota.

John Erickson, former manager of the lumber yard here, was up between trains Tuesday. He will, we understand, manage the Farmer's elevator when they reopen. John will undoubtedly make a good manager as he is well liked in this community.