

A fire which destroyed John Hagbergs barn, two horses, a cow, harness, some feed, etc., occurred Tuesday, just before dinner, and for a time it looked as if other property nearby was doomed too, on account of the strong wind, which was blowing directly towards the buildings, but a good supply of water poured onto these, no doubt, saved them. The barn was a low, one story affair, owing to the high wind, it did not take long before the structure was burned to the ground. Some children with matches are supposed to have started the fire, and it had gained such headway when it was discovered that it was impossible to save the live stock or other property. Mr. Hagberg figures his loss about $800.00, with no insurance.

The chicken shooting season is