

Jessie News Items.

Dr. J. A. H. Winsloe of Coopers-town was up on business Friday.

Miss Kastet was the guest of her sister at Cooperstown over Sunday.

Mrs. Crawford is up from Coopers-town. She is at the home of Cash-ier St. John.

Mesdames Jenson and Mellum were Binford visitors between trains on Saturday.

C. V. Hedges returned last week from South Dakota, where he had spent the winter.

John Erickson has now taken charge of the Farmer's Elevator and is ready for business.

Messrs. Tweed, Rogne, and Christ-ianson were callers here from Bin-ford on Friday evening.

Rev. Kleidon of Sanborn, conduct-ed services in the St. Lawrence Cath-olic church here Sunday.

Mrs. Chas. Taylor arrived from Minnewaukon on Thursday, later leaving again for McHenry.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Taylor are back from McHenry; they are busy packing up, as they intend to leave in a few days.

Mrs. Fred Modutz and son, Eddie, who have been visiting for some time at the J. W. Ressler home, re-turned to their home in Wausau, Wisconsin, on Thursday.

B. E. Cunningham is building a neat four room cottage on his lot, formerly used as a tennis court. The tennis enthusiasts will have to look up a new location.

Pres. Elliot and other high officials of the N. P. were over the road early Saturday morning, stopping here at eight. They were just completing a tour of inspection of the entire road.

Louis J. Lehner went to Fargo Tuesday to meet his family. They returned with him the following day. On Friday the hotel opened under new management, Mr. Lehner being the new proprietor.

A number of protests have been heard in regard to the closing of the central office during the noon hour. During the busy seasons, this is practically the only hour of the day that the farmer and business man can communicate.

Miss Tracy Pella and Joseph Ash-ebrener were united in marriage on Monday morning by Rev. Kleidon in the St. Lawrence Catholic church. After the ceremony a large company of relatives and friends went out to the home of the bride and enjoyed a sumptuous wedding dinner. In the evening there was a wedding dance. The bride is well known in this com-munity, being the daughter of Felix Pella. The newlyweds will farm near here. Congratulations and best wishes are extended.