

return.

S R. Klein returned last Saturday from St. Paul, where he had been after some Shorthorn cattle. There had been some misunderstanding in regards to the shipment of the stock. The gentleman from whom Mr. Klein purchased the stock had promised him that they would go through, but after the car reached the transfer point, Mr. Klein was notified that an attendant must be with them, so he was obliged to go to the extra expense of another trip to St. Paul to bring the car home.
