

Carl Krögfors arrived here last Thursday from Granville, for a few days visit with relatives and friends. He left Tuesday for the twin cities on business matters. At the last meeting of the directors of the bank at Granville, Carl was promoted to the position of cashier. This will be good news to his many friends here. Carl's success has been rapid since he got into the banking business, and we hope to hear of his still further rise before long. He is made of the stuff that succeeds.
