

F. G. Lewis went to Jessie this morning to get a few subscriptions for the Minneapolis Daily News. He is in a subscription-getting contest conducted by that publication, and is well up among the top ones. The prize is a $1000 Maxwell auto, and Fred feels quite confident of winning it, but if he doesn't, he says the others will have to go some. If his gift of gab and popularity count for anything Fred will be sporting a new auto in Binford next summer.
