

Geo. Lockett and family came over from Wimbledon last Friday and remained until Monday, guests at the E. M. Jackson home. George is the same, good-natured George. He is enthusiastic over the big band they have in Wimbledon, of which he is a member. They had a number of important engagements during the past summer. They expect to put in a hard winter at rehearsals and by next summer they will be in much better condition to fill outside engagements with greater credit.
