

succeeding.

Young Carl Norstrum broke one bone in the arm partly off and another torn from the wrist, while playing with a few of his companions, near the Evers home Sunday afternoon. He was playing on a fence and in attempting a jump to catch a post, he fell, landing on a stone, with the result as stated. The injury was a very painful one. Dr. Truscott was called to set the injured parts and it is likely no bad effects will follow.

For a full and complete list of the ball