

An item of news that will be interesting to many of our readers who remember H. S. Thompson, formerly grain buyer at the Monarch elevator at this place, is that he has gone to Italy to take lessons in voice culture. Those who remember Mr. Thompson best know that he has a beautiful voice, and believe that a short time spent in special training will place him among the stars in the vocal list.