

Ray West, a tailor who has been located at Sanborn and Hannaford, was here yesterday for the purpose of leasing a building to do tailoring in. Mr. West is an experienced tailor, and if he finds business good enough, he may decide to locate here permanently. For the present he has leased the back rooms of Dahlin's land office, next door to Shaw's restaurant—and will remain for ten days.