

The Times has recently added a new series of advertising and job type to its equipment. Much of the the old type which had been in use since the paper was established 11 years ago had become useless and was discarded to the junk pile. A great deal of it had seen service on the paper at Hope and was old when brought up to Binford. The new type is all of one series and of ten sizes. It is a beautiful letter, but its purchase entailed the expenditure of a nice sum of money and if our delinquent subscribers will replenish our depleted exchequer, possibly we will be in a position to add some more necessary improvements.
