

The Commercial club held a very enthusiastic session last Wednesday evening at the opera house. The good roads movement came up for discussion again, and it was decided that next summer, instead of devoting one day, as in former years, we should devote two days, in order to do more efficient work and cover a larger territory. A committee was appointed to give this their attention. It was proposed to commence this work as as soon as possible after the frost had left the ground. The proposition of securing more fish to stock Red Willow lake came up and a committee was appointed to attend to this matter. The idea of a park for Binford was acted on favorably, and it was suggested that the tract of land east of the depot extending to the street, would be a splendid location. A committee will confer with the railroad authorities in regard to this matter, hoping to get their assistance in completing their plans. Binford will hold another market day, and perhaps two, next summer. The committee appointed to make arrangements for this will decide on a date later, and make their report to the club. Much good will result from the propositions which were decided on at that meeting, and it goes to show how much can really be accomplished when the meetings are properly attended and the proper spirit manifested.
