

home.

The painters are putting the finishing touches on the interior of the Free church this week. The church has been remodeled and an addition built so it now is very much improved in appearance both inside and outside. A number of the members gathered at the church Tuesday, and cleaned away the debris and other material in the yard. The congregation is to be commended on their progressiveness.