

The annual school election will be held next Tuesday and every person in the village should feel it their duty to cast their ballot. There has been no one who has announced their intention of being candidates for election on the board. Mr. Buchheit had announced his intention of retiring, but many, knowing his fitness in that capacity, have prevailed upon him to reconsider his decision, and though he does not desire reelection, he has stated to The Times that he would qualify for the office in case the majority will it so. No better selection can be made and we hope to see Mr. Buchheit get a unanimous vote. Another man whom we believe would be a good member of the board is C. F. Ringlee. His knowledge of educational matters fits him for that position. The Times has no desire to dictate to the voters who shall or shall not be elected, nor do we place our judgment as being better than others, but we do have an opinion, occasionally, and we don't think a mistake will be made if the two gentlemen whom we have mentioned are elected next Tuesday.
