

Cooperstown won the debating championship of North Dakota by defeating Mohall in the final contest of the state debating league at the university Friday evening. The decision of the judges was unanimous in favor of the Cooperstown debaters who supported the affirmative side of the question "resolved, that the federal government should own and operate all public telephone and telegraph lines."