

to do military service.

Matt Hovel was in town Thursday from his farm north of town. Mr. Hovel had just recently returned to his home from Fargo, where he was confined in a hospital for several weeks with blood poison. Outside of losing one finger he has fully recovered from the ill effects of the poison.