JESSIE NEWS.

Roasters from 75c to $3.25 at Rogney's, Jessie.

O. L. Anderson and family were Cooperstown visitors, Wednesday.

Miss White of Pekin is the guest of Elizabeth Rickford at her home.

A No. 9 teakettle, nickel plated on copper, at $1.75.—Rogney's, Jessie.

Jessie is a busy town these days. There's "always something doing in Jessie."

Frank Arndt returned Friday from So. St. Paul where he had sold a car of hogs.

"Over the fields and through the woods, to grandfather's house we go." Gee, if we only could!

A Quick Meal gasolene Range at a decided bargain.—For price apply at Rogney's Hardware, Jessie.

Miss Gerda Watne returned on Thursday from McHenry. She has been absent for some time. Welcome home again.

Mrs. Jno. Skai and baby, of Binford, left on Friday for a visit with friends and relatives at Thief River Falls, Minnesota.

Miss Elizabeth Rickford returned on Thursday from Pekin where she had been visiting with the Cunningham family for some time. She was sure missed.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman McCulloch and Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Dahl autoed to Walum on Saturday and spent some time with old friends returning Sunday evening.

There will be something doing at the pool hall on the 28th. Marion says they are as fat as butter and of course it is so. Don't miss the fun. It will be fast and furious.

Evangeline Rogney has been seriously ill at her home. It was necessary to call Dr. Truscott on Saturday and again on Monday. She is somewhat better at last reports.

Word received from Mrs. Ole O. Anderson, at the Northwood hospital, is that she is recovering slowly from her operation. She hopes to return to her home in the near future.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Ressler will leave the first of the week for a visit with relatives at Great Falls, Montana, to be gone for a few weeks. They will no doubt enjoy a well-earned vacation.

Royal Hot Blast heater, 18 inch fire pot. Burns hard or soft coal, lignite or wood. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or no sale. Price $35.00. 5 per cent off for cash.—Rogney's, Jessie.

Mrs. Tollef Tollefson returned to her home at Wimbledon after spending the past few months at the Fred Tollefson home. The party motored down in Fred's new Dort on Sunday and returned in the evening.

In an interview with Harvey Larson on the great issues of the day, he frankly states he doesn't like work. In that declaration he has one comfort—he is not by any means alone. Misery loves company.

Rev. Jas. Anderson, of Fargo, the district superintendent of the M. E. church for the Fargo district, will accompany Rev. Bennett on Sunday afternoon next, and will preach in the schoolhouse at 3 p. m. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

Our friend, Ben Arneson has been confined to his bed for several days with a very severe case of inflammatory rheumatism and on Tuesday left for the Nelson Sanitarium at Fargo in hopes of gaining at least partial relief. We sincerely hope he may be improved.

Miss Wendella Thorn left on Monday for Ray, where she plans to go into business. She was accompanied by Miss Clara Rorvig of Binford. The young ladies will be greatly missed in the social activities of Jessie and vicinity, this winter. As Shakespeare says, "Now is the winter of our discontent."

O. M. Rogney and Happy Kvam autoed to Cooperstown on Friday evening and while returning met Messrs. Holm and Opdahl of Binford who were called west of the Swede church. At the S. O. S. call they took the gentlemen on board and with a borrowed rope brought the "cripple" to the Raud hospital. After a short operation on Saturday morning they were again on their way rejoicing. No, the same accident won't occur again. Once was enough.

A. V. McColm, who has been renting the Anna Lotvedt farm, north of town, left Wednesday for his homestead in northeastern Montana. He had an auction sale the 17th and shipped his household goods Tuesday, in charge of Arthur Knapp who will make his home in Montana. They are driving across the country in their Ford. Art has made a great number of friends around here and all join in extending them the best wishes for health and happiness.

W. T. Evoy, of Casselton, who represents the American Sunday School union in Griggs, Steele, Cass, Trail and Barnes counties, was the guest of R. F. McIntosh over Sunday. On that day they drove out to the W. E. Colvin home for dinner and conducted a gospel service in the church schoolhouse. Returning to Jessie Mr. Evoy gave an illustrated lecture in the schoolhouse, on the life of Christ. On a very brief notice a large number came and enjoyed the pictures and talk. Mr. Evoy's work is chiefly among the small outlying Sunday Schools. He is now driving a 1917 model Ford Touring car, a gift of a number of friends and Sunday School workers, at and near Grandin. The car enables him to do still more efficient work.

JESSIE SCHOOL NOTES.

Examinations Thursday and Friday.

We are glad to hear that Evangeline is gaining after her severe sickness.

Edward Arndt, Herman Trost and Theodore Hovel entered school this week.

We are making good use of our new song books which we received last week.

Mrs. F. E. Rule assisted us with our Christmas songs and program last Friday afternoon.

The visitors for last week were: Gladys Reid and Norma Thorn of Binford and little Rosabel Rogney and Mercedes Sues of this place.

Those neither absent or tardy for the week ending November 17 were: Muriel Thorn, Engre Vaade, George Rule, Vivian Retzlaff, Cleona Retzlaff, Helen Retzlaff, Gerald Rickford Raynold Hovel, Julia Erickson, Joseph Erickson, Mary Wurst, Augusta Wurst, Emma Wurst, Bertha Wurst, Martha Wurst, George McCulloch, Wallace McCulloch, and Irene Ressler.

McHenry Tribune: Again we must chronicle the leaving of another of our estimable families from our city. Mr. and Mrs. McQuat were among the first to build a permanent home in McHenry and were numbered among our most influential citizens. Many will be surprised at their going to Hannaford to make their future home. Mr. McQuat's position as travelling auditor for the Crane-Johnson Co. made Hannaford a much more central place and they therefore decided to make their home there. They retain their property here, however, and their many friends hope to welcome them back again in the near future. Mrs. McQuat, recently president of the Congregational Aid Society, was given a dainty lavalier as a remembrance from that organization. The Tribune joins with their host of friends in wishing for them every success in their new home.
