JESSIE NEWS.

Are you going to wear the new hat or is the other fellow?

The W. A. McCulloch family were Jessie visitors on Sunday.

Oscar Rogney went to Wimbledon on Wednesday on a business trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Wild were Jessie visitors on Saturday. They still regard Jessie as home.

There will be services in the Catholic church Sunday next. It is anticipated that there will be a large number in attendance.

Dave Wilcox and Mrs. Otto Retzlaff returned Friday from Mamora, Ont. where they were called by the death of her father some weeks ago.

Happy Kvam has purchased the cottage adjoining the hotel from R. Thorn and will soon make his home there. Mrs. Kvam is expected to arrive at an early date.

Mrs. Anna Lotvet, whose illness was noted in the last issue, is reported to be somewhat improved. It is sincerely hoped that she may regain her usual health again.

Oscar Nieranberg hauled in to the Thorn-Arndt Grain Co. this past week in one day, four loads of 1915 wheat and received a check for $871.70 for same. This is some record.

Willie Tweed and a crew of men from Binford are busily engaged on the Ed Thorn place. They are remodeling the barn and making other improvements of a permanent character.

Fred Rule is fond of Indian summer but owing to the constant discussion of "preparedness" going on he has taken it seriously and had a dandy storm entrance built onto the pool hall front.

A. V. McCole will hold an auction sale of his personal property on the Lotvedt farm on Friday, November 17. Mr. McCole intends to move to Montana and desires to sell everything before moving.

If there was any one in Jessie who did not vote it was simply because they could not do so. The old command of "Go early and vote often" was fully complied with so far as the early part was concerned.

Col. and Mrs. Mark motored in from Jamestown on Wednesday last and left for home on Saturday after a pleasant visit at the Tollefson home. They were accompanied by Mrs. Fred Tollefson for a short visit.

A young gentleman came to visit the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gust Clemens the past week and decided that he would make his future home there. Their numerous friends are extending their hearty congratulations on the happy event.

O. E. Thorn spent part of last week looking after the purchase of some pure-bred Holstien cows and as a result secured four fine ones on Monday from McHenry. It is his intention to increase his herd of pure bred as opportunity offers.

A number of the faithful gathered in the inner sanctum of our N. P. station and listened for the returns. Some excitement was caused when it was learned that Max Wild had been elected. With a trembling voice he declared that it must be some error. We anxiously await further advice.

On Thursday evening a number of friends of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Tollefson met at their home to extend the best wishes on their eleventh wedding anniversary. A very enjoyable evening was spent and lunch served at midnight. They will make good use of a slight token of good will of their friends.

Joe Drushba has rented a farm near Revere and will make his home there in the future. When Joe began to move he supposed he could vote in his new location but found that he had to come here. As it is a matter of 50 miles to drive it looks as though Joe believed his vote of some value. Here's hoping his vote counted in the finals.

Rev. Brunett of the M. E. church of Cooperstown conducted his first service, Sunday, in the schoolhouse and was welcomed by the largest audience that has attended since the beginning of the service. He will preach again on Sunday next at 3 p. m. as before. He was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Hall and Mrs. Brunett. A cordial welcome is extended to all who care to attend.

One of the most enjoyable events of the year was the basket social at the Hemerlin school on Friday evening. Under the able direction of Miss Bertha Skofstad, assisted by Miss Hilda Watne, a fine program was rendered, after which came the sale of baskets by Col. Mark. The advance notices said it was going to be a hum-dinger, and it was. The bidding was lively at times and most of those present were wide awake. As a result sixty-three dollars was raised and a new organ is now assured. An impromptu addition to the program was a violin and flute selections by Prof. Sigge, O. M. Rogney and Art. Siegel. It was after midnight when the crowd finally left, fully satisfied. The S. R. O. sign was up all evening.

When Miss Ella Thorn went into her home Saturday evening to get some paper for her brother, Ed, she received a royal surprise instead. There were three rooms full of friends who had come to spend the evening. After she had recovered her breath events began to happen. Fred Tollefson made a good physician and his mobile countenance would captivate any patient no matter how ill he might be. At the point of a pin all patients quickly recovered. Mrs. Hemerlin was chief matron of the Daughters of Norway and wanted to know "why Jim had any right to be a daughter of Norway". We are still waiting for the reply. A splendid lap luncheon was served and was thoroughly enjoyed. There were a number of guests from Binford and Cooperstown. The memory lingers.

YOUR suit looked fine when you put it on six months ago—svelte, super-satisfying.

But look at it now.

Saggy and sodden.

Sorry and shapeless.

It didn't fit—that's the answer.

Poor fit will stretch or slack all the style out of any suit—in a few weeks of wear.

Fit is the biggest word in the good dresser's lexicon. And the definition of that word is "made-to-measure clothes."

Have your next suit Royal Tailored to your order at $18.50 to $40. Our tape line is ready for you.
