

Evers.

While butchering a hog, Tuesday, Albert Paulsrud was a victim of an accident which might have proved fatal. The knife he was using in some way struck his leg cutting into the calf about four inches and severed an artery, causing a heavy loss of blood. Dr. Truscott was called and rushed him to the McVille hospital for treatment and care.

---