

As was decided at the last Commercial Club Meeting, the first days of this week were to be dedicated to the improvements of the roads in the vicinity of and leading into our town. Accordingly the first squad, duly armed with picks, shovels, and crow-bars, and with a relative amount of spunk started out on the east and south roads, object removal of all protruding and offending rocks. No rocks were too small for attention and none too large, and even dynamite was resorted to in one particular instance.--Budget.
