

method.

Joe Pella, who resides eight miles south east of Binford, was kicked by a horse Monday, with the result that he is laid up with a broken rib. One of the horses was running loose in the barn at the time, and another horse, being tied, meant to kick at him to keep him away, when Mr. Pella happened to be where he got the kick. The blow struck him on the lower edge of the breast bone, breaking the lower rib.