

The presence of mind and quick action of Siver Pritz probably averted a fatal accident at Jessie Monday. As it was the victim, Fred Edling, was severely burned about the face and head. Mr. Edling, who is a barber, was lighting a gasoline burner under the water tank, when the gasoline run over and ignited, spreading over the wall and other things around. Mr. Pritz, being in the shop at the time, put the flames out and attended Mr. Edling. Dr. Truscott was called to dress the man's burns.
