

intentions for the future.

Matt Rorvig is taking in the sights at the auto show in Fargo, this week and we surmise that he will "fall" for a car this time, tho he steadfastly insists that his horses are good enough for him.