

SEPARATOR BURNED

The threshing separator of C. H. Carpenter burned last Sunday night. The machine had been pulled onto the field east of town that day preparatory to threshing A. Meyer's stacks. It was left at night with everything apparently in good shape but in the morning it was burned to the ground. We understand that Mr. Carpenter had carried insurance all fall but that, being practically at the close of the season, the insurance had expired. The machine had just closed the second season's run and therefore was nearly new.
