Barn Burned.

The fine large barn of H. S. Curry just southwest of Colgate burned to the ground last Thursday afternoon. We have not been able to get all details in regard to the fire, but as much as we can learn it was caused by spontaneous combustion. Fire started three or four times in different places in the barn during the day and from what we can learn the fire caught the last time under the floor and was all a mass of flames before it was discovered. It was a heavy loss to Mr. Curry as he not only lost his barn but all his next year's feed. He carried some insurance.
