

Another Called.

Again we are called upon to chronicle another death in the family of Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Joslyn. Yesterday morning the death angel called and took little Alice to that land from whence no traveler returns. The little girl had only been ill a short time with dysentery and all had been done that was possible by nurses and physicians but to no avail. The case is unusually pathetic on account of the death of a little son only a short time ago from the same disease. The whole community sympathises with the bereaved family in this awful affliction. The funeral occurred today at the Congregational church, Rev. Hitchcock officiating. Interment was made in the Hope cemetery.
