

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Hearing that Feb. 22nd last was to be the silver wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Jacobson a goodly number of their friends decided to spend the evening with them. Accordingly secret plans for a surprise were laid, which fortunately were undiscovered, by the genial couple. About 8:30 the party sallied forth from the appointed place and found Mrs. Jacobson at home but not expecting company. After a moments hesitation she decided to invite the company in and gave them permission to assume the whole burden of entertainment. Soon L. A. appeared on the scene and quickly taking in the situation extended a hearty and characteristic welcome.

After a pleasant evening of social intercourse the self-invited guests served a sumptuous repast and in memory of the occasion presented to Mr. and Mrs. Jacobson a silver berry set and an inscribed tray.

At a late hour the merry throng dispersed wishing the popular couple many more years of happy married life in Hope, where they have spent these twenty-five years.
