

Ina Jefferson met with a very painful accident at the school house yesterday morning, which can near proving fatal. A number of the pupils were playing with the medicine ball and among them was Miss Ina. There is no one that seems to know just how the accident happened but in passing or throwing the ball she was hit on the left side in the region of the heart and with such force as to render her unconscious for some time. She was picked up by some of the teachers and older students and one of the larger boys carried her to her home. A physician was called and it was some time before she came to. This was certainly a close call and should be a lesson to the children to be more careful in their play. Miss Ina is resting quite easy this morning but will feel the effects of her unpleasant experience of yesterday for some time.
