

J. M. Gunning accidentally pushed his little son down cellar Monday in which the child received injuries that may prove fatal. One arm, leg and hip were broken and the back severely injured. It seems that the cellar door was open and the child was standing inside the house door with the cellar behind it. Mr. Gunning was coming in with a sack of potatoes and on opening the door the child was pushed down the cellar. It is a sad affair for the parents. The doctors Messrs. Brimi and Wells, have done all they can to relieve the little sufferer but it is doubtful if the child will live.
