

T. R. Jones returned last Thursday from Iowa where he had been called by the illness of his father. He arrived home too late to see his father, who had died almost as soon as Mr. Jones received the message here.