

Wedding Bells.

Those wedding bells we told you about last week, have rang, and two of our young folks Hugh M. Carpenter and Daisy Ella Williams are just as happy as any of us old married folks. At 8 o'clock p. m., on Thanksgiving day, at the home of the bride, Rev. Scott pronounced these man and wife, surrounded by a large circle of relatives only. As both are well known to our readers we will not attempt to tell you what you already know, but cheerfully wish them a long life of happiness and prosperity. Following is a list of presents:

Mr and Mrs Carpenter, book case.

Mr and Mrs W. S. Williams, table, cloth, napkins and center piece.

Mr and Mrs F. E. Carpenter, silver fruit basket.

Mr and Mrs W. W. Hazlett, silver pickle caster.

—Mr and Mrs Wheeler, rocker.

Mr and Mrs F. E. Williams, rug.

Mr and Mrs D. W. Vadnie and John Williams, chamber set.

Mr and Mrs A. D. Williams and Albert Williams, toilet set.

Miss Mamie Williams and Fred Bissell, fruit set.

Miss Agget Vadnie, match safe.

Miss Libbie Carpenter, china cake plate.

Miss Kittie Williams, celery tray.

Mrs F. L. Ray, silver salt and pepper caster, china tea stand and Batenburg doily.

Mrs G. L. Macoy, gold berry spoon.

Johnny Vadnie, china tooth pick holder.

Harry Vadnie, china mustard dish.

Adam Major, silver knives and forks.