

On the morning of the seventh James McCullum took his departure for Chicago (as he claimed) but several of the citizens as well as the PIONEER have very grave suspicions that Sully instead of going east as he would have us believe took another route and arrived at -- N. Dak., where our imagination leads us to believe his welcome was very cordial, all right "take care of yourself Jim" and the PIONEER with your host of friends all join in and wish you a long and joyous trip over the road of -- life and throw the usual amount of Rice and wish you a pleasant trip to Chicago and a safe return to our town to become one of our first citizens.

Later: Word has been received that James McCollum and Miss Martha Gillespie, were bound in the holy bonds of Matrimony, yesterday afternoon at the home of the Bride's father at Ardoch, N. D. We understand they left last evening on their Wedding tour east, where they will visit friends at Chicago and Piper City, Ills., the latter place being Mr. McCollum's old home. After a visit of some duration they will return to Hope, where they will make their future home. A host of friends join with the PIONEER in wishing them a happy journey together through life.
