

The Hope Progress has been sold to J. A. Pepper and E. H. Stevens, both practical printers and royal good fellows. The Courier has no doubt but what the Progress will be successful under the new management and hereby extends the glad hand to the new proprietors. Geo. H. Iseminger, the founder of that paper, retires from the business with the good will of the newspaper boys. We hope his lines will be cast in pleasant places.

---