

While at work in the field yesterday Charles Rathke suffered a stroke of paralysis which effected the entire left side of the body and left him entirely helpless. He was taken home and medical assistance summoned. The last report received are to the effect that he is recovering.