From Sunday's Mpls. Tribune:

In the case of A. L. Truax vs. the Soo railroad, for damages for the loss of a hand, the plaintiff, A. L. Truax, has been given a verdict for $15,225.

The accident was caused by an alleged defect in the company's depot platform at Kimball Prairie, Minn.

The plaintiff claims that this defect caused him to fall, while attempting to transfer a mail bag, July 21, last.

Truax is a government mail clerk, and resides in St. Paul.
