

Wedded Among Flowers.

A pretty wedding was solemnized this afternoon at 3 o'clock, when Miss Ruby Helen Halsey of West Groton, N. Y., a former teacher in the Ovid High school, was united in marriage to Carl E. Tallmadge of Cooperstown, N. Dak., at the home of the bride's brother, Grant H. Halsey, No. 512 Stewart avenue.

The ceremony was performed in a spacious room in the eastern part of the house, which was prettily decorated with smilax, sweet peas, palms and ferns, by the Rev. J. Cunningham of Duke Center, Pa., the ring service being used.

The bride was handsomely dressed in white silk while she carried a beautiful bouquet of pure white sweet peas. Her bridesmaids, the Misses Aurilla Cutter and Florence Tallmadge of Groton, were gowned in white organdie and white silk. Two small nieces of the bride, Evelyn and Winifred Halsey, acted as flower girls, while Master Edward Lane was the ring bearer. The best man was Hampton H. Halsey of Rochester, a brother of the bride.

Following the ceremony, a delightful luncheon was served, the tables being decorated in pink and white.

Both the bride and bridegroom were former students of Cornell, Mrs. Tallmadge being a graduate of the class of 1903. The happy couple expect to leave the city this evening for parts unknown. They will reside in Cooperstown, N. D. where the bridegroom is cashier of one of the leading banks of that city, after the first of September.

About 60 friends and relatives of the couple were in attendance at the wedding, many of them coming from Ovid, Syracuse, Groton, West Groton, Waverly and Genoa.—Taken from the Ithaca Daily News, N. Y., dated July 18, 1906.
