

School Items.

Myrtle Milligan has returned to school after a weeks' absence.

Rev. Whitford visited the school Wednesday afternoon, of last week.

Harry Rice has been absent this week.

Etta McLean and Pearl Hench were absent Friday.

The appearance of the school house has been greatly improved by the painting, and in the future will be an ornament to the town.

Those who will attend later on in the year must not expect any new classes to be formed. We now have the grammar department divided into three grades, and all the common branches are taught. Those who wish to take work preparatory to teaching can find just what they need here, but they will have to take it in the regular classes. We have three classes in arithmetic, taking up denominate numbers and percentage. Three in grammar, including work in etymology, syntax and analysis. One class each in physiology, geography, spelling, civics, U. S. history and reading. Those who desire to take advanced work will find classes in bookkeeping, algebra, latin, and general history. Several new classes will be formed at the beginning of the winter term, and we will endeavor to accomodate all. But we cannot afford to make special classes when the same work is being done in the regular ones.
