

While talking with Billy Milligan last Sunday morning he said: "Do you see my hair? It is standing on end. There will be a storm inside of three days. Just mark what I tell you. I have the best barometer in existence." Tuesday night the storm arrived. Figure the time and you will see that Billy was about right—as he usually is. We hope hereafter that he will keep his hair combed—if that has anything to do with storms.