

---

Martin Rathelock, an employee in the livery stable of Furlong & Greenen, happened to a painful accident Thursday afternoon. In jumping from the back door of the barn a ring worn on the little finger of his right hand caught on a nail, almost tearing the finger from the socket and lacerating the flesh terribly. Dr. Phillis found it necessary to amputate the member. His hand still pains him severely since the operation.

---